

SAY NO TO SHARK FINS – Be the First to See 'SHARKWATER'

Charity Premiere on
10 January 2008

Lido Cineplex, Shaw House, Singapore

Reception starts at 6.30pm

Biologist and investigative reporter, Rob Stewart follows the trail of the multi-billion dollar shark fin trade and sets off a chain of events that has to be seen to be believed. His adventure becomes a dangerous mission involving espionage, corrupt governments, mafia rings, his arrest and a glimpse at his own mortality. This is a true-life documentary of Rob Stewart in his adventurous journey through 15 countries over five years, documenting the plight of our oceans through the eyes of one of the world's most misunderstood animal. Produced in high definition, this multi-awards feature takes you to the most shark-rich waters of the world, exposing the exploitation and corruption surrounding the world's shark populations. What one comes away with is a story about the beauty of life on earth and our role in protecting its amazing balance.

The Singapore release follows a successful run in Canada and the USA, where Sharkwater broke opening weekend box office records, out-grossing the opening weekends of Bowling for Columbine, March of the Penguins and An Inconvenient Truth.
